

Teen Crafted Review Blog Participation Form

About the Blog

The Teen Crafted Review Blog is for local teens in grades 7-12 who want to earn community service hours by writing qualifying book and movie reviews. By submitting this participation form, teens agree to follow the guidelines for review submissions, which can be found at <https://temeculaca.gov/1273/Teen-Crafted-Reviews>. Selected books and movies must be age appropriate. The Ronald H. Roberts Temecula Public Library reserves the right to only approve community services hours for qualifying reviews.

Parents are encouraged to review reading and viewing content, and discuss it with their teen before a book or movie is selected.

Published reviews can be found at www.rhrtpteencraftedreviews.wordpress.com.

Community Service Hours

3 qualifying reviews will earn 1 hour of community service.

If you need to turn in community service hours for school, please e-mail Teen Services Librarian Lea Hernandez at lea.hernandez@rivlib.net to schedule an appointment. You must bring your community services sheet to the appointment so that hours can be finalized.

Participants must submit at least 3 qualifying reviews before scheduling an appointment.

Privacy

We value your privacy. The only information that will be published is the participant's first name, age, and the submitted review.

Please return this signed Teen Crafted Review Blog Participation Form by scanning and e-mailing it to lea.hernandez@rivlib.net or by turning it in to the adult reference desk at the Ronald H. Roberts Temecula Public Library.

After submitting this form, you do not need to wait for confirmation, you may begin submitting reviews immediately.
